FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 6, 1862

No News

The stage last night brought no news from the East. The Union, of the 30th ult, says:

No dispatches from the seat of war yet. At the most critical period of the contest we are left without intelligence of the progress of events of vital importance to the nation. It is consoling to reflect that the steamer will bring the news before the 4th of July.

By telegraph from San Francisco we learn that there was a report in circulation that Governor Stanford contemplated calling out two more regiments of volunteers but Adjutant General Drumm discredited the rumor. The Sacramento Rangers have gone into quarters at the Presidio. At noon yesterday there was a tremendous gunpowder blast on California street, in the Bay City, which did considerable damage to a house and the sidewalks. The Hudson Bay Company's steamer Labouchere arrived yesterday from Victoria in ballast. She is to be sent to Chicago for sale.

The Election—An Incident

We are permitted to make extracts from a private letter, giving account of an incident which occurred at the late election:

* * "I am happy to say that there are patriots in our little village as well as in other places. There is a man here, who cast his vote yesterday under very trying circumstances, as follows: He and all his brothers and father always voted the democratic ticket, but at this election he deemed it his duty to vote the Union ticket. His father and brother threatened to disown him if he voted that ticket. Not succeeding in this, threats of violence were added. Trying as were these circumstances he, with tears in his eyes voted the whole Union ticket."

Good, for that patriot. Besides the proud consciousness that he was doing right and patriotically, he has the satisfaction of reflecting that two thirds of the voters of Oregon were guided by the same noble principles.

For Salmon River.—The Sacramento Union, of the 29th says that an expedition under the charge of J. F. Dye, lately left Red Bluff for the Salmon river country. There were eleven men in the company, and Dye took two hundred head of cattle and twenty seven mules.

The Union further adds: "It is a fortunate thing that some parties are taking provisions to feed the poor fellows who have gone there and who will be in danger of starvation on account of their numbers."

That's so. Only think what a tremendous amount of provision two hundred head of cattle and twenty seven mules will make. No more danger of starvation after they arrive in the mines. No further use for the Oregon Steam Navigation Company's steamers, to carry freight up the Columbia. Gentlemen of the Columbian Transportation Company on the Washington Territory side, it is no use for you to proceed with the further organization and prosecution of your opposition line: tie up the St. Clair and Adelaide: let the hull of the Fashion rest, for a Mr. J. F. Dye has gone to the mines with 27 mules and 200 head of "bulls," and he is bound to stock the market—so says the Union.

From Lewiston.—We have been kindly permitted to take the following extracts from a letter written by Dr. Hawthorne to Dr. Loryea, of this city, dated Lewiston, June [illegible] 1862: "Mr. Simmons, of Walla Walla, has just returned from Salmon river. He says that the miners are doing well there. New diggings have been discovered about fifty miles south of Florence City—also between Florence City and Elk City. Mr. S. says the reports of these discoveries are believed by all who were at Florence City, and I have no doubt that they are true. It is said that the miners around Florence City take out daily twenty five hundred pounds of gold dust. I do not suppose that this is certainly accurate but there is no doubt that this is the richest mining camp ever worked on the coast. Lewiston is a very windy place—the wind blew so hard yesterday that it was impossible to travel the streets. The waters are very high and Lewiston is partly under water. [illegible] is now beginning to arrive [illegible] and in all respects business is just beginning in this upper country."

We omitted to mention in our issue yesterday morning that we had been favored with a call from Hon. [illegible] McBride and H. L. Preston, Esq. [illegible] to be in the best of humor. Mr. McBride says he is much better pleased with Oregon since the election, than he was before. Who wouldn't be?

Mail Contracts for Oregon and Washington Territory.—The following are the successful bidders for carrying the mails in Oregon and Washington Territory:

From Albany to Willamette Forks once a week, Jos. Koltnet, $750.

From Astoria to Monticello, steamboat twice a week, John Jones, $3,000.

From Corvallis to Oakland once a week, Geo. W. Bethers of Corvallis $1,440.

From Oakland to Umpqua City, once a week, G. H. Bartges $1,600.

From Salem to Dallas, twice a week, Jno. W. Lancaster, $585.

From Umpqua City to Port Orford, once a week, Henry T. Evans Crescent City $2,123.

The remainder of the advertised proposals are not let.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

From Dungeness to Cape Flattery, once a week, Ed. Miller, $680.

From Olympia to Skokomish in boats, once a week, Ed. Miller, $700.

From Olympia to Oysterville, once in two weeks, U. G. Warbas $2,200.

From Olympia to Spanaway, once in two weeks, G. L. Randle, $550.

From the Dalles, O., to Wallupta, W. T. once in two weeks, R. H. Landsdale $3,750.

The balance of the proposals are not let.

Received his Honorable Discharge.—We see by yesterday morning's Times that Mr. A. S. Gould, who has creditably filled the editorial chair of that establishment for several weeks past, has retired from the further discharge of the duties, responsibilities, and we might add, perplexities of that position. He says that "The battle has been fought, the victory won, and the humble volunteer who was stationed in the editorial chair of the Times is now permitted to retire." We sincerely hope that Mr. Gould may receive a liberal reward for his services, as they have been valuable to the glorious cause of the Union and the success of the Union ticket, and wherever his lot may be cast we hope that he may continue to enjoy peace and felicity. Who comes next?

From Cariboo.—The news from Cariboo as published in a late number of the Colonist, is not very encouraging. Grub, when it was to be had, was selling at the following prices: Flour, $1.30 per pound, bacon, $1.75, beans $1.[illegible]. At the Forks of the Quesnelle, there was scarce enough provisions to last eight days, at latest accounts. No provision was met on the way up except what was in the hands of miners on the road, and animals are not expected to pack into Cariboo before the middle of July, on account of the snow. Price of meals $1.50 above and $1 below Lillooet. A month hence will be time enough to go up. Those who have and are still rushing on will regret it. Such a course can only result in injury to them and the country.

Absolution.—We see it stated in last evening's Advertiser that that establishment has [illegible] until Monday next. The cause is doubtless occasioned by a repentent desire to purify itself, and hence its editor has adopted the [illegible] custom of three days fasting and prayer, duly clothed in sackcloth and ashes, by which he hopes to absolve himself from his political pollution. Pray on, Bro. Joseph, it will do you good. We have hopes for you yet.

Dust.—$2[illegible],000 in gold dust was brought down last night by Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express per steamer Rural.

Eastern Items

The [illegible] at 1000 Georgian [illegible] that [illegible] refused [illegible] of [illegible] selves [illegible] them [illegible] just [illegible] by the New [illegible] P[illegible]. On Tuesday, April [illegible] an expedition [illegible] the [illegible] just above Elizabeth City surprised and attacked a camp of rebels greatly superior in numbers, put them to flight and captured eighty men together with a large quantity of arms, tents, etc., and the breakfasts of the whole flying force, which our men ate up with thanks. The rebels are welcome to as many such victories as they can fancy.

A correspondent of the New York [illegible] describes how the [illegible] were pushed forward against the rebel line at Yorktown. At night, companies of men, [illegible] gentlemen and mechanics, sally forth with shovels and pick to the work on trenches in front of the enemy under cover of darkness. They return at daybreak and when the [illegible] day was a level [illegible] is to be seen a powerfully constructed work behind which are [illegible] the most approved [illegible] modern warfare.

The Confederate Congressmen have voted themselves $[illegible] per annum and mileage, and to their [illegible] the work of treason they have voted $[illegible] per month.

General Grant reports that he has buried over 1000 [illegible] that the rebels [illegible] than [illegible] killed than we did, for our men tried to kill and others to wound [illegible] their colors to the very last. Our troops have collected ten thousand stand of arms thrown away by the rebels.

The City of Washington is turning its attention at last to local improvements, and in city [illegible] the national Capital. The streets [illegible] much more [illegible] the [illegible] department [illegible] efficient, and certain streets and squares more sightly. The Washington Star gives a list of numerous private surveys indicating the increasing prosperity of the city.

Victoria Items

We take the following from the British Colonist of late date:

Sale of Steamers.—[illegible] A. R. [illegible] of [illegible] Capt. John T. Wright Jr., purchased a controlling interest in the British Columbia Steam Navigation Company for the sum of $12,000, paid [illegible] in gold and silver coin to the late holder. [illegible] bucket [illegible] and in being [illegible] McDonald & Co.'s to Pidwell's Building [illegible] carried away the bottom of the [illegible].

Reported Defalcation.—It is said that Victor Smith, U. S. Collector of Customs for Port Townsend, W. T., is a defaulter to his Government in a large amount. On account says $[illegible],000. Mr. Smith was recently at San Francisco.

The Camels.—[illegible] camels [illegible] to be sent above [illegible] packing provisions [illegible] on the [illegible] The heaviest load [illegible] three hundred and fifty pounds, but it is supposed that when [illegible] animal will pack nearly [illegible] that weight.

Letter from John Conness.—The Sacramento Union of the 27th says: "A frank, manly and patriotic letter appears to-day written by John Conness. It was addressed to a gentleman in Shasta and was published in the Courier. He says very emphatically, that he will not unite with the Breckinridge McConnell party, as he [illegible] fellowship with those who sympathize with rebels, who approved of the attack on Sumter, and rejoiced at the repulse of the Union army at Bull Run. Conness would cheerfully have acquiesced in a [illegible] movement to unite all loyal men under the banner of the Union, the Constitution and the Government, including the support of the President so long as the war of rebellion rages. He is in favor of peace when the last rebel has either laid down his arms or died in the last ditch. If the Union democracy maintain their organization he will stand by the [illegible] with them as he has done in the past. But if any attempt is made to form a union with the Secession wing, he is one of the Union democrats who will repudiate any such disloyal arrangement. He does not advise the formation of a Union party, but intimates very clearly that if one is formed upon a [illegible] it will not meet any opposition from him. He considers that President Lincoln is a patriot and ought to be sustained in the exercise of the power of [illegible] to put down treason."

A Remarkable Stay at Home.—The Salem Gazette chronicles the death of Mr. Nathaniel Swim of that city at the advanced age of 79 years, 9 months and [illegible] days. He lived in an ancient looking house in North Salem and was born and died in the same room.—During his long life he never slept but once out of his house. He was never afflicted with sickness of a sufficiently serious character to require the services of a physician until the final breaking up which resulted in death. He was the last of twelve children, all born in the same house and in the same room.

Not so Green.—In New York lately, as a handsome girl, not more than seventeen years of age, dressed in the Bloomer Costume, was passing along Park Row, escorted by a green looking young man, a flashily dressed fellow stepped before her and asked her for a kiss, whereupon her green looking escort dealt the intruder [illegible] with his fist which would have knocked him into the middle of next week had next week been [illegible] it was, [illegible] him into the gutter, and the blooming Bloomer [illegible] in triumph.

Insanity.—Died. A German by the name of Hasse died in Sacramento May 28th, from the effects of a [illegible] last December. COUNTY COURT.—The County Court of Multnomah county was in session from Monday the 2d until Wednesday the 4th inst. but we learn that nothing of importance was transacted, further than the appointment of [illegible] H Williams special administrator of the estate of Daniel H. Lownsdale, deceased.

ARRIVAL OF THE SIERRA NEVADA.—The Sierra Nevada arrived at this port about [illegible] o'clock yesterday afternoon, from San Francisco via Victoria. She brought a small amount of freight and about sixty passengers. The news of later date was received by this steamer, and but very little of importance from other quarters. This steamer will sail at [illegible] o'clock this morning. Wells Fargo & Co. will accept our thanks for full files of late California and Victoria papers and the Purser of the steamer for the following:

[illegible] —Steamer Sierra Nevada [illegible] commander, left San Francisco May [illegible] at Esquimalt [illegible] P M [illegible]

[illegible] —Gov Wm Pickering, Wash [illegible] Mr Rollins [illegible] J Parker, Miss R Th[illegible] Ann Fitzpatrick [illegible] J Heron, Wells, Fargo & Co's [illegible]

STREETS.—We are pleased to know that our City Fathers are fully alive to the credit, importance, health and general benefit to be derived from clean streets, well graded or planked. We hope the time will soon come when we can conduct our stranger friends over the streets without feeling the blush of shame mantle our cheeks in consequence of [illegible] and more filthy nuisances.

[illegible]ATOUS.—An Ordinance is now before the City Council relative to the prevention of the spread of all dangerous or contagious diseases in the city. This is a very necessary measure, as there is already more or less such disease prevalent in our city at this time, and more liable to come. An ounce of prevention is worth more than a pound of cure.

ANOTHER RUNAWAY.—A span of horses, with harness on, broke loose from the car driver at the stable on the corner of Second and [illegible] streets, and ran up Second for a block, when they were duly brought to with a [illegible] turn. No damage done other than frightening of a lady and child who took refuge near a lot of wagons, around which the running horses circled a time or two.

AUCTION SALES.—Mr Mansfield will sell at 10 o'clock at his Auction House on [illegible] street, a large lot of crockery and glass, several invoices of goods and the balance of a large stock of jewelry, all of which will be sold without reserve.

PERSONAL.—Hon WM PICKERING, Governor of Washington Territory, arrived in this city on the Sierra Nevada and we learn immediately went over to Vancouver. He will probably return to this city to-day, before leaving for Olympia.

[illegible] Mr. Charles M Carter and wife, who have been absent to the East for several months, have evidently done well "having gone single and returned double."

The Oregon Steam Navigation Company have determined to let the hull of the Carrie [illegible] until low water, when her machinery will be taken out and put into another [illegible]

Our thanks are due Senator Nesmith for a copy of addresses delivered in the U S Senate and House of Representatives, on the death of Senator Baker. Also to Senator [illegible] of California, for valuable public documents.

DARIEN SHIP CANAL.—The Herald and [illegible] translates the following interesting items regarding the proposed canal across the Isthmus of Panama:

Preparations are nearly completed for the formation of that grand enterprise for uniting the waters of the two great oceans. [illegible] making a survey for which Lieutenant [illegible] and a number of American officers and [illegible] Government employees so nearly lost their lives. The present expedition is under the patronage of the Emperor Louis Napoleon — [illegible] French engineers under the direction of [illegible] Bonardial, having previously made part of the exploration, are operating in Darien upon a detailed survey of the line for a ship canal between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans — There is thus, at length, a prospect of this great project being carried into execution. The line about to be surveyed extends from the Gulf of San Miguel, in the Pacific, in a direction N E by E by compass to Caledonia Harbor and Port [illegible] on the Atlantic. The Gulf of San Miguel receives [illegible] rivers the largest of which are the [illegible] and the Savana, which unite together before falling into it. The Savana is navigable for the largest ships up to the [illegible] of the Lara, with [illegible] that is, for four [illegible] miles towards the Atlantic. From the confluence of the Lara with the Savana, at which point the future canal will commence, the line extends to the Chuquanaque, a distance of twelve miles. From the Chuquanaque the line follows the bed of the Sucubti, one of its tributaries, and [illegible] of the Asnati with the Sucubti a distance of nine miles, and then continues in the bed of the same river Sucubti to a point nine miles higher up. From that point to the Atlantic the distance is [illegible] The whole length of the project [illegible] will be 35 nautical, or nearly 41 English [illegible]

Can we Afford the Cost of the War?

This question is thus sensibly discussed in the Boston Journal: Facts and statistics with exact calculations [illegible] the abundant resources of this country tend somewhat, we think, to encourage those who are mourning over the great cost of the war. The valuation of the census of 1860 gives, in round numbers, a property of more than sixteen thousand million dollars. Eight thousand million dollars was the valuation in 1850. It is only necessary to calculate the immense resources of the country, the enterprising and elastic character of its people, their vast energies of accomplishment, to appreciate something of its capacity of endurance. It is idle to talk about ruining this country. Such language is uttered only to serve some end of doubtful loyalty, or else by those who look on the dark side till all sides become dark to them. Courage, then! let us listen to no counsels of fear. Out of this tremendous evil good will come. It is the part of a good citizen never to despair of his country. We who stay at home, and share not the perils of the camp and the field, have something to do to restrain the impatience of the hasty, to inspire the doubting to support our brave soldiers in the field, and strengthen the hands of the Government.— There is a patriotism in cheerfully bearing the burdens of taxation, which though not to be compared with that of those who have given their lives for their country, is by no means to be lightly regarded. We pity the man who is so mean-spirited as to grumble at merely pecuniary sacrifices to his country. He only rises to the spirit which animated our fathers and of the present time, who can say, 'Take all I have, leave me but the power to earn a living, and a government and a country as a rich heritage for my children.' This is a patriotism which is worthy to be mentioned with that of our brave soldiers in the field.

The Delirium De Richesse.—You have probably seen a sewing machine in your day and generation? I don't mean the sewing machines with loving hearts and weary eyes, with dyspeptic stomachs and tuberculed lungs, whom Hood has immortalized with all their sufferings in his famous "Song of the Shirt." I mean the other kind of a sewing machine, with fingers of polished steel, bowels of varnished iron, noses of shining electro plate and lungs of leather strap. You have seen the article, no doubt. Well, Singer & Co. are among the great manufacturers of such machines. Singer, a few years ago, was a humble mechanic living in the fourth story of a tenant house, and happy when he could earn ten dollars a week for himself and family. Now, Singer resides in a grand palatial mansion, has an income of $70,000 a year, and wastes money like a nabob—that is, like a nincompoop. Good fortune has turned his brain and he drinks to excess. When drunk he beats his wife until she calls in the police for protection. Finally, she has been compelled to sue for a divorce, and yesterday the Supreme Court ordered Singer to [illegible] her an alimony of $8,000 a year and a counsel fee of $750 to pay for her effort to liberate herself from his inebriated embraces. It was in proof that even during the panic year of 1861 the net profits of Singer & Co. were over $190,000. Think of that, ye ghosts of uxorious husbands, and then imagine a man with such an income beating his wife like a half starved tinker—a gentleman so poor that even his anathema is proverbially worthless. It don't do for weak minds to make money too fast. The delirium du richesse leads to the delirium tremens (or tremens adams, as some folks will have it) and that to brutality and death. A while ago Singer "astonished the Browns" by building a traveling carriage containing several apartments—kitchen, parlor, chambers, boudoir, etc.—to make the grand tour of Europe in with his family, servants, and all his household gods about him. It cost a mint of money, was a vast and luxurious machine, and one of the funniest looking machines on wheels ever seen outside of Utopia. I think it had [illegible] rooms underneath, where cobblers, punches and juleps and other nice refreshing beverages were concocted on an extensive scale by an expert. Flexible tubes fitted into [illegible] conveying the "mixed drinks" through speaking tubes, upstairs to the parlor, where on the silver mouth piece of each the engraved name of the drink tempted S— to "suck away" at whichever he preferred as though it were mother's milk. What became of that vehicle I cannot say, but all his horses and other vehicles were sold at auction recently, and it was said that he was then going to travel En [illegible] and en prince. So much for sewing machines!"—Cor. [illegible] Sac. Union.

Happiness.—Now let me tell you a secret—a secret worth knowing. This [illegible] ward for enjoyment [illegible] know of it, I would as soon [illegible] for a living [illegible] nights. The only true way to be happy [illegible] to take drops of happiness [illegible] to us every day of our lives. [illegible] learn to be happy while [illegible] his lesson, [illegible] ing his trade [illegible] ing his fortune [illegible] he will be sure to miss his [illegible] when he gains what he sighs for.

A Pretty Idea.—At the [illegible] to Prince Napoleon, Gen. Scott [illegible] the reception [illegible] McClellan. "It was six feet [illegible] five feet eight." Seventy-[illegible] History waiting [illegible] on hope.

night, followed by my [illegible] discharges, have all disappeared, and in fact, in two months after having consulted the doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand! With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience, that a cure under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

B. F. FILLMORE.

State of California, County of San Francisco
Subscribed and sworn to before me, this seventh day of April A. D. 1856. Signed
[L. S.] JOHN MIDDLETON, Notary Public.

MARYSVILLE, June 24, 1856.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the last of your medicine and do not think I shall need any more, as I feel very well, except that I have not entirely got my strength yet, but soon will with the appetite I have. It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I called at your Institute with my constitution, as I thought, broken entirely and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do something to use the pain in my back and head and strengthen my nerves so that I would not get excited and tremble at everything. Now that you know what I expected, you may judge [illegible] satisfaction of my complete recovery from those symptoms and the removal of those sores and blotches from my skin and the ulcers from my throat, and the [illegible] stoppage of those emissions which were ruining me, the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest [illegible] for except not having fully got my strength I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge, and think myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefited you may put this letter in the newspapers. Believe me gratefully yours, THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to gratitude.

CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which deserves some mandate not only as an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity also. About two years ago I suddenly, and that [illegible] was seized with a fit of epilepsy, which owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the discouragement which I met with in attempting it, soon became such, I was then led to believe, as to defy the skill of any physician. I was frequently, while in pursuit of my calling, thrown down to the ground without the slightest warning, and although insensible to the agonies I yet despised the miseries of my life and began to look upon those who would render assistance to succor me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my [illegible]. While in this state, and having previous to my affliction tasted the sweets of life, I once more was induced to attempt seeking aid, and by recommendation, called upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my circumstances, and of my inability to reward him for his services; regardless of which however, he at once undertook my case and with the blessing of God I was once more restored to perfect health. I am left to reward him for the health which I enjoy at present, and yet I feel sensible of my indebtedness, I consider it due to myself and all afflicted to make the case public, in order that the [illegible] may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.
